Zeno Hode, on trial for murder in |the slaying of Robert M. Buck, fed-WILL SUPPLY eral prohibition officer during a still rail February 1 near Kiln, was acquitted by a jury in circuit court shortly before 6 o'clock Wednesday evening, after being out 26 minutes, according to an announcement made by Sheriff T. Ed Kellar. Hode admitted on the witness stand Wednesday that he fired the shot which resulted in Buck's death, but claimed that he did not know that the mer were officers.

He said his previous denials of shooting Buck was to "rid" himself of federal investigators, who "were worrying" him while he was in a Gulfport hospital recovering from wounds which he had received in an exchange of gunfire at the time of the Buck killing.

He also admitted ownership of the liquor distillery, the raiding of which resulted in the fatal shooting of Buck. He had started making liquor some three months before the raid, he said, and claimed he had been driven into the illicit business to support his wife and children. He was without employment, he said. Tells of Shooting.

Hode testified that he and his son-in-law, Oscar Favre, were leaving the still when they were confronted by a group of men. He denied that the men announced they were federal officers. He said he only fired after he had been shot in th neck and shoulder. Egg Hunt Proves Enjoyable Event

The men's, women's and children's odges of the Maccabees of Gulfport and Bay St. Louis combined for the annual Easter egg hunt held Sunday afternoon on a vacant lot near the Bay of St. Louis traffic bridge. A total of 120 dozen eggs had been coked and dyed and were hidden in advance of the hunt. Winners of the prize eggs in the older children's contest were David Cochran, Jr., high and Junior Bellais, booby, and in the smaller children's contest, Joyce Arnold, Bay St. Louis, high and Edmund Simonton, booby. The prize for finding the largest number of eggs was won by John Morris.

There were as many children from Bay St. Louis as Gulfport. This was the first joint affair of the kind and proved so agreeable and successful an affair that no doubt it will be repeated next season.

Only Gallant Fox and Zev have to their credit earnings above the $300,000 mark

The year-by-year record of Phar Pay shows that in 1928, as a twoyear-old he raced five times, winning one first and being unplaced four times. In 1929, as a three-year-old, in twenty races, he scored thirteen firsts, one second, two thirds and unplaced four times. As a four-yearold in 1930, he won fourteen races and was second twice. Last year, as a five-year-old, he won eight firsts E out of nine races and was unflaced in the Two-mile Melbourne Cup E event. Altogether, including the Agua Caliente handicap, he has won thirty-seven first out of fifty-one starts, with three seconds, two thirds and nine unplaced. It is interesting to note that of his first nine races, he was unplaced eight times.

ASK YOUR CONGRESSMAN.

MISSISSIPPI has eight Congressmen.
Compared with calibre and material we have had in the House in the past they are quite a mediocre lot—as congressmen.

A recent vote by the House records by official tabulation that the entire Mississippi delegation voted with the "drys" to prevent the public passing judgment by referendum action on the future of the Volstead prohibition act, either in

In its last and full analysis the subject voted was one that resolved to this, whether or not to let each man and woman vote as his or her intelligence saw fit.

It is evident that each and every one of these congressmen either thought his job might be at stake if they failed to vote "dry" or that the people—their constituents, those who put them in office—were not capable of passing judgment for themselves.

It is either one thing or the other—possibly

T is certain this vote does not represent the people of Mississippi by one hundred per cent, while the voting by our congressmen represented their one hundred per cent strength.

The Gulf Coast section of Mississippi is certainly not in the dry column, and other sections, too. Then why should one congressman vote possibly because the other seven voted their candidates for congress come around on sentatives of various charitable and benevolent prohibition nonsense to ask the present Con- merce offices, under official auspices of the gressman or his opponents how does he stand C. of C. on this question? VISIT OF "CONSTITUTION" TO GULF COAST.

T/ISIT of the U.S. frigate "Constitution." U. S. N., to the Mississippi Gulf Coast during the past week-end, has been an occasion of more than ordinary interest.

Not only from historical and sentimental value, even though that element might be paramount, but from the fact that over thirty thousand people turned out, visited and paid their respects to the frigate which carries the Stars and Stripes nobly and with significance.

PROVIDING FOR GAS TAX FAILURE.

REPRESENTATIVE W. J. Fleming has in-troduced a bill in the House which forms another bond problem, according to press dispatches from Jackson. The gist of the bill proposes to give board of supervisors of Hancock county authority to issue bonds in such amount as necessary and by such counties having seawalls, to protect roads in excess of ad valorem roal tax to meet seawall bond issues' maturities and interest, when gasoline tax revenues proved insufficient to meet such maturities and inter-

The House, press dispatches state, declined to take up the bill in committee of the whole at once, as requested, in order to allow all Gulf Coast revresentatives to confer on the bill's

While our people are tax-ridden and and bondburdened, a recent survey of the present condition of the Bay-Waveland seawall and roadway, will make it imperative that some funds be raised in order to take care of the enormous expenditure represented in the original cost of improvement; and, further, since the consumption of gasoline has fallen off materially and the practice of bootlegging gasoline, as alleged, has become so extensive a practice, that, in order to meet bond maturities and bond interest it will be necessary to issue bonds to pay the county's indebtedness off by an ad valorem tax. Such tax would be so fixed as to pay off such bonds as would be issued.

The House, acted wisely, in not launching the Fleming bill in the open, or take it up in the committee of the whole at once, in order that proponents, or rather, opponents, if any, from other coast counties may, give it consideration before going to the final vote.

The Echo is of the opinion that the present wall not only represents too much of tax-payers' money, not to protect what is already there, and, of course, it will be necessary, where the gasoline tax falls short, to provide for such funds as will be necessary to discharge the obligation incurred by maturing bonds and interest.

A Review of the News of Last Week's Echo.

THICAGO, ILL., March 29 .-Easter was close at hand when the Echo for last week was printed. As I read I am impressed with the fact that the religious significance of the feast surpassed any other interpretations placed upon it. Not detracting from that at all, are some other things peering at me from the news.

To the kiddies who gathered on Mrs. E. J. Leonhard's lawn to start in the King's Daughters Benefit Egg hunt, Easter also meant colored eggs and bunny\ nests. This year, with grown folks having so many problems, Easter was probably more than ever a children's holiday. The kids got quite a break with eggs selling as low as a cent a piece in the large cities, and much less than that near the source of production. Even a poor child could have an egg this year, that is, if he could find a penny,

Of course Miss Melodia Nix, who was fortunate during the S. J. A. interclass contest, and her classmates, are long past the age when colored eggs mean anything to them. Why, they laugh at such childish things. Strange how they'll think of them again some thirty years hence. Besides new clothes, these fine young folks were thinking most of the Easter vacation, to be followed by the last lap of the school year. Days that intervene between class events will be counted as they leap up to the social functions that come with the closing of the school year. Easter eggs

Now to Mr. and Mrs. Gerald Price Easter meant mostly that their stay in Algiers was over, and that it was time to be getting back to Bay St. Louis again. Like the birds of the spring come, these wandering friends of ours, back to their old abodes as Easter dawns.

Consider now the case of the sweet daughter who recently arrived at the Richard Boudreax home. According to the Echo, her birthday came just before Easter this year. But next year's anniversary won't be so close. That puzzles the little folks. Miss Boudreaux, howof my childhood who insisted that his birthday fell on Palm Sunday every year. When inquisitive children questioned him about his moveable birthday he would reply in a vexed tone: "'Twas on the Sunday before Easter I was born, my mother always told me so. And I'll have you know she knew more about it than you young whippersnappers who think you know more than those many times your age."

Those fortunate enough to have been present at last week's Rotary meeting to listen to E. E. Hagherg's talk on "Chean Money" added just that much more to their stock of knowledge. After all, lectures are educational courses in condensed firm, that's what they are. The lecturer reads many volumes, studies long and travels afar, gathering the material for his discourse. Then he boils everything down, so to speak, and gives his listeners the pro-. duct of the boiling. Thus inone short lecture period they receive the benefit of all the student has discovered.

Now, when the Rotary and the Mississippi Coast Press Club hold their joint meeting at Hotel Weston April 4th, who will be the rresiding officer? Will the honors go to the Rotary President or to the head of the Press Club? Perhaps they'll draw lots! Anyway I'll wager that whoever wins, the man with the gavel will be Chas. G. Moreau.

Businessmen genarally look for a revival of trade at Easter time. It is my sincere hope that last week's advertisers received a fair portion of the buying done by Echo readers. Bay St. Louis merchandisers do not rely on sympathy to keep them in business, as we have agreed before. But your merchant has a reason to expect consideration other than the fact that he happens to be in business in your

The total figures will never be known but it is safe to say that local merchants of the country have provided more relief to the needy than all the other agencies combined. Their books are filled with uncollectible accounts,, many of them entered merely as a matter of form. The merchant who exended credit has given until it hurts, yes. until it has put many of them into bankruptcy. That's something you should keep in mind, and everything else being equal give your merchant neighbors a break even as he has assisted those less fortunate than you are.

CARL MARSHALL

down of Carl Marshall, one of the sippi Supreme Court, the legislative figures in the $80,000 mystery, who investigating committee, and the exis now undergoing treatment for an ecutive committee of the Mississippi acute psychosis in a sanatorium, the Bar Association well know that Carl McComb Enterprise says:

Whatever his erime has been, Carl Marshall has paid the price. And yet, the quality of mercy is strained. The situation becomes sentimental even though, we know it is another case of a harvest reaped. Penniless, his friends say, and almost friendless he thinks of his triumphant past, and writhes again in anguish.

The tragic part of it all is that the others, persons more guilty than he, escaped. Thus sentiment does rightfully enter the case when his friends sav. "Hold, he's suffered enough. Further punishment is equivalent to the death sentence.

When must judgment be oically stern? When must stoically stern? sentiment be rightfully applied? This, the unanswered question of the ages, the thing often abused, too often neglected. presents itself. Sterness is stuff out of which character is made, they say. But what is character without the vitalizing power of sentiment?

Carl Marshall's remaining few friends ask that he be given a chance to live, that continued banishment from his profession means certain early death. Between these two battlefronts of duty Mississippians stand, wondering where stern judgment ends and the light of mercy commence to shine.

The Daily News is among those who contends that Carl Marshall has been runished enough; that throughout the whole miserable affair that filled the columns of the press for more than a year he was more sinned against than sinning.

When Carl Marshall insisted. throughout that long and trying investigation that he obtained only $5.000, retaining that sum as a fee for representing Howie, Howie & Latham he told the exact truth, and the legislators who conducted the investigation ,as well as the executive committee of the Mississippi Bar Asociation, know he told the truth, regardless of what his motive or conception of honor may have been in so persistently protecting those who took a lion's share of the spoils and spent it for political purposes during the last state campaign.

Since the Supreme Court decree barring Carl Marshall from practice was issued, he has been a physical and mental wreck. In fact, since the proceeding was instigated it is doubtful if he has enjoyed a good night's rest without a sedative. This can be readily understood, for men of his rare genius and exceptional brilliancy almost invariably have nervous temperaments. Constant worry, a deep contrition, and realization of the fact that he has been deserted by many who were once proud to claim his friendship, had the inevi-table result. Although endowed with a magnificent physique, the strength and figure of an athlete, he mental anxiety, has brought him to his present plight.

this be done. Carl Marshall has paid the price of his folly, whatever it was. He has tasted the hemlock cup to the depth of its bitterness.

Unless all the text books are wrong the purpose of law is not to punish the offender, but to protect society and bring about his reformation. Insofar as punishment is concerned. Carl Marshall has suffered more bitter mental anguish than his worst enemy could wish for him. He has undergone a torture of mind far worse than physical torture at the stake. That he could have endured with fortitude. Today Carl Marshall doubtless sees many things more clearly. He knows more about man's ingratitude and the falsity of fair weather friends than any man in Mississippi, Weak, bodysick, heartsick, brainsick, he spends weary hours on a hospital cot reflecting on these things, and if there were ever a man who deserved mercy and a tender consideration at the hands of those who have fought him, it is Carl Marshall.

This is not by way of criticism of the legislative investigating committee or the executive committee of the Mississippi Bar Association. It is conceded that those gentlemen acted in accordance with their plain duty.

They could not have done otherwise.

of sportsmanship and fair play in Commenting on the nervous break- matters such as these. The Missis Marshall's alleged flagrant violation of the code of ethics of his profession was not a rare incident. They know that similar offenses are committed by other members of the bar almost every day in the year right here in Mississippi, that other offenses differ from that of Carl Marshall chiefly because he happened to be prominent his associates were then politically powerful, and the whole affair was messed up in politics. The amount involved was larger than the average lawyer encounters in a whole lifetime of practice but in other respects it differed not one whit.

He is still at liberty to practice his profession, if he sees fit, whereas Carl Marshall, brilliant, brainy, eloquent, yet easily persuaded and as friendly and impulsive as a Newfoundland purpy, was made the goat for the whole transaction, and is now undergoing a punishment far greater than even his worst enemy hought it possible to inflict.

To blight the brain, deny him the privilege of legal practice, and thus virtually deny him the privilege of living, is a punishment far too severe for Carl Marshall. Viewing the cording to ability to pay and exacts whole affair in its very worst light, from persons of large means their he inflicted more harm on himself than other persons sustained therein.

The purpose of the law is not to punish the violator thereof, but to reform the offender and protect society.

None can deny that the law has been vindicated. None can doubt Carl Marshall today is down and that Carl Marshall is penitent and almost out. He has not lost his remorseful. We best manifest the divine stark vithin us when we exercise the divine spirit of forgiveness, and say "Go and sin no more.'

Mississippi can well afford to forrive Carl Marshall, put him on his feet again, extend the right hand of friendship and fellow hip, and say: "Be yourself again old chap. We ove you too much to lose you. Let the good that is within you have the right-of-way again, and we will be well with you and yours." It is the right thing, the fine thing the manly thing, the Christian thing to do. If it isn't, then the spirit of Bible are all in vain.

George Arliss Comes To A. & G. Theater Sunday in "Man Who Played God"

George Arliss, star of five of the talking screen's great pictures, arrives Sunday at the A. & G. Theater has steadily lost flesh, and this, with for two nights, in his latest dramatic production, "The Man Who Played The Supreme Court, on motion of God," a Warner Bros picture adaptthe Mississippi Bar Association ought ed from the stage play inspired by same title.

"The Man Who Played God" is a earnestness the Daily News suggests story of a musician of international fame, an essentially human being whose life and harpiness revolves around his music and the pleasure he brings to countless thousands via the Heaven.sent gift he possesses.

Fate plays strange tricks on him, giving and taking love, presenting the world for a plaything and then taking everything away. Arliss portrays every step in the drama with nuances and shadings rarely seen on the screen.

He is loved by two women, adored by thousands more. He was in love with one, a widow, played by Violet Heming, before she married another. She loves him but keeps her own council becaus she believes him to be in love with a young and beautiful girl, played by lovely Bette Davis, a newcomer to the screen whose work has been rewarded with a long term contract.

"The Man Who Played God" was directed by John G. Adolfi, also responsible for the direction of Mr. Arliss' last two successes, "The Millionaire" and "Alexander Hamilton." The large cast includes Ivan Simpson

TAX PAYERS.

The most acrimonoius debate of the session centered about the proposed manufacturers' sales tax. Both advocates and opponents got so hot under the collar that the issue had to be sidetracked to permit them to "cool off." The chief objection to the general sales tax was that it deviated from the cardinal principles prorata share. Under the sales tax most of the burden would be shouldered by people of small means.

FOR REDUCTION OF SALARIES.

Reduction of Federal salaries as a means of further curtailing the government overhead has been and still is a paramount issue in Congress, and no less than a dozen different plans have been considered by the Special Economy committee of the House. While the committee has not yet agreed upon any rafticular plan it seems to be leaning toward one which cent of all salaries above $1,000 a

PRESIDENT IN PREDICAMENT.

Not so very long ago President Hoover was emi hatically demanding that the searchlight be centered upon the short selling manipulations of the crafty Wall Street "bears." During the last two years, every time he would announce that "prosperity House killed the manufacturers' was just around the corner" the botsales tax. So when the ticker failed to zoom simultaneously with the enactment of the Reconstruction Finance Corporation and Glass-Steagall credit expansion bills he got as mad as a wet hen and demanded an expose of the "bears." To accommodate him, the Senate named a special investigating committee to look into the matter. However, instead of restricting the inquiry to the "bears," the Senate sanctioned an investigation of the "bulls" also; in fact, the committee was instructed to probe into all transactions of a speculative nature. Now, to the surprise of almost everyone; the investigation has been postported indefinitely. What is more, administration spokesmen have been largely responsible for the delay. As a consequence the President is in the selfsame predicament as the man who wanted somebody to help him turn loose a ferocious grizzly bear.

TABLET AT GRAVE OF WASHINGTON'S KIN IS DEDICATED

Tribute Paid to Memory of Mrs. Frances P. L. Butler.

An impressive program was witnessed by a large number of people in Live Oak cemetery, Pass Christian Tuesday afternoon of last week, when a bronze tablet was dedicated 58.54 at grav eof Mrs. Frances Park Lewis 40.32 Butler, great-grandaughter of Martha 11.17 Washington and grandniece of 330.25 George Washington, under the auspices of the Mississippi Conference, Daughters of the American Revolu-59.86 tion, under the direction of the 53.84 Coast Chapter, D. A. R., with Mrs. 4.54 Barney Eaton, chapter regent, pre-2.84 siding.

Mrs. Butler was a resident of Pass Christian for many years and as honor guests there were a number of relatives of the Butler and Washing-99.33 ton families.

The invocation was delivered by 22.57 the Rev. Robert W. Emerson of the 24.52 Gulfport Episcopal church, followed by greetings by Miss Myra Hazard 16.58 of Corinth, regent of the Mississippi 71.92 Conference, D. A. R. Dr. Pierce 9.86 Butler, dean of Sophie Newcomb col-135.88 lege, New Orleans, and Clayton Rand 5.13 chairman of the Mississippi Washing-11.60 ton bi-centennial commission, made 89.02 addresses. Wreaths for the Mississippi Conference, D. A. R., were placed by Mrs. James S. Mayfield, state chairman for preservation of historical spots.

Here's A Man to Honor.

A world that is quick to honor military genius and sometimes seems 3.94 to revel in their slaughter often 41.22 pauses for a celebration that is more 2.84 fitting in our present civilization.

76.01 Such was the recognition given 17.30 the fiftieth anniversary of Robert 22.57 Koch's discovery of the microbe that causes tuberculosis which he announced to the world just fifty years 20.75 ago last Thursday.

2.84 While his discovery has not led to 55.87 an entire prevention of tuberculosis 15.12 or presented a cure for the disease 6.33 as certain as Jenner's vaccination for smallpox or Pasteur's treatment for hydrophobia, it has led to a striking decrease in the death rate from the 22.57 Great White Plague.

At the time of his discovery, tuber-52.77 culosis was the principal cause of death and accounted for one out of every seven fatalities. Today, in 12.38 the United States, it ranks seventh 79.59 and takes away only one out of every 25.58 seventeen who die.

Without going into the steps taken by Dr. Koch to prove that tuberculosis was not hereditary and to be 20.39 feared only by certain families, but 14.68 that it was rather a contagious dis-57.38 ease, spreading from one victim to 104.37 another by germs transmitted 11.17 through scome method of contact, we call attention to his feat establishing 16.00 the presence of bacillus and indicating the precautions that should be taken to prevent its spread.

When he read his paper before the Berlin Physiological Society on Mar. 18.84 24th, 1882, he completed a chain of 42.89 proof started by Jean Villemin in 19.00 1865, when he announced that tuber-3.94 cles taken from consumptives would 1.31 develop tuberculosis in a healthy animal. However, Villemin's fellow physicians found a loophole, suggesting that the injection might contain a 14.04 substance which made a person susceptible to tuberculosis rather (than 64.68 the cause of the disease in itself.

Koch stopped this speculation by demonstrating that bacteria, multi-23.39 plied outside the body and injected into healthy animals would produce the disease and that the bacilli could be found in these experimental animals, isolated and thus complete the 5.03 circle of positive evidence

It is worthwhile in a busy life for 2.60 men and women to turn aside occa-1.75 sionally and give thought to the 1.75 great work that has been done, and is still being done, by men like Robert

No Postponement Of Delinquent Tax List Publication by Press

Three bills aimed at repealing the present tax, exemptions for new industries in the state received unfavorable reports in the ways and means committee room. The same committee turned thumbs down on two bills aimed at postponement of delin-6.00 quent tax sales to the fall months.

Delay or postronement of delin-5.87 quent tax list in newspapers, it was 1.08 pointed out, would be only prolong 4.77 an ordeal that sooner or later must 3.54 be experienced, and no matter how 5.93 late a date for delinquent tax list is set each year, the tax-payer who defaults would have ro better advantage as to time. However delayed, the intervening period would still cover twelve months, and-longer.

Gainesville School Closes Seven-Month Successful Term

Mrs. J. E. Casanova who taught 24.77 the Gainesville school during the past term, closed the school at the end of seven months and not six and one half months as officially re-22.80 ported in the Times Picayune of March 4.

She taught two weeks extra of her 3.80 own accord without pay which was 25.78 appreciated very much by her pupils 3.94 and patrons

Manager Luc Has Three New Faces Lined Up For Opening Game With Biloxi.

Bay St. Louis' Mississippi Coast League club, for the rast three years the doormat of the circuit standing, worked out Sunday to apply the 31.35 finishing touches for the season's opening Sunday, April 3, when the defending championship club invades Stanislaus Stadium at Bay St. Louis-

The 1932 Bay St. Louis lineup, although President Fred Fayard and Manager Victor Luc have not been boasting or even making public 2.84 their plans for the season's cam-.80 198.67 paign, came to light Sunday for the 18.19 first time this spring when they lined the team up for the big work-

Several new faces were seen to bolster the outstanding men from last year who were signed to 1932 contracts. They are outfielder Forest Favre and infielders Lucien Favre and Pike Telhiard, the latter being with Waveland last summer.

Regulars from last year back with the team are Pitchers Alden "Cot-1.75 ton" Collier and Southpaw Jimmy Collier; outfielders J. V. Bontemps and Wallace Bontemps and infielders George Boudin and Eddie Blaize.

A trio of promising players who joined the club late last season are 3.35 back to give the Bay St. Louis entry 1.84 a good start next Sunday when they 3.35 face the championship Biloxi club. 1.73 They are outfielders Bobby Strong and Son Capdepon and infielder Lawrence Luc, Shelton Seuzeneau, an infielder who also is out for a berth on the Bay lineup..

President Fred Fayard said today that he was to send to league Mead-7.67 quarters in Gulfport the above named 1.19 thirteen players. This leaves room for two more Bay St. Louis is allowed to sign according to the ('oast League rules of fifteen-player roscover second and third. Glen Wright at short and Bissonette at first complete the regular infield but, due to an ankle injury, the first-sacker will hardly start the season and a shift will probably be necessary. The outfield may miss Babe Herman but Hack Wilson ought to offset the slugger. Lefty O'Doul and Frederick, plus Boone, furnish plenty of material for the garden.

.40 11.46 .40 3.35 Lopey and Sukeforth take care of 3.35 the back stopping. In pitching, the club has an embarrassment of hur-3.35 lers. Vance, Hoyt and Watson 1.19 Clarke are expected to be among the 2.66 best performers, with Quinn, Her-2.66 mach and Phelps to help. Three 1.19 others will be taken from a list that includes Shaute, Mongo and Jones 2.81 4.97 2.27the latter being promising recruits.

The Dodgers' chances depend al-2.38 most entirely upon the form to be. displayed by their veterans, most of whom have had off years lately, and upon the strength of its pitching

Dan Howley thinks that his sixplayer swap with Brooklyn will pull the Reds out of the National League cellar and that Babe Herman and catcher Lombardi will give the need-23.22 ed punch to the lineup.

In the outfield, Herman, Crabtree and Douthit will have in reserve Heilmann and Roettger. In the infield, Howley and Heath at first. 1.19 Grantham at second, Durocher at 2.01 short and High on third. If this 2.81 combination fails to work, he can 1.84 try Gilbert at third and put Grant-1.84 ham on first.

The ritching corps doesn't look 1.19 very strong but may develop better strength than expected. Lucas and 1.73 Johnson with Owen Carroll, Frey, 1.84 Benton and Rixy, will have the work 1.84 to do. Behind the bat, Lombards and Manion are expected to do good > Roughly, the Reds are not looking for miracles but expect to present a substantially improved team and to end, maybe, a few notches from the bottom.

Gar Wood is building a new boat to defend the Harmworth trophy at 1.73 Detroit next Sepembter. He plans 1.19 to use the same twin engines with which Miss America set the world 7.14 speed boat record of 111.712 miles 1.19 per hour at Miami early this year. 7.46 He hopes to make a speed of 120 1.19 miles an hour and to beat Kaye Don, 1.19 whose Miss England will be used 1.19 | again.

Next time, the English craft will have twin propellers instead of the single one it had last year. Its mo-20.05 tors develop 2300-horsepower each, 13.03 Wood expects to rely on the design of his new boat rather than its pow-15.60 er. The new speed boat will be 31 10.28 feet long as against the 36-foot length of the English craft.

Apparently, Wood is anxious to avoid the misunderstandings that marred the match last fall, because 10.70 he is credited with saying that "it might be fairer if there were only one challenger and one contender."
